

ABSTRACT

[40] A system and method for providing orientation information for a frame of a video clip is described. One embodiment comprises capturing an image with an image capture device, generating a frame having at least image data corresponding to the captured image and sequence data indicative of a frame position in the video clip, sensing an orientation of the image capture device at the time the image is captured and incorporating the orientation information corresponding to the sensed orientation into the frame.